Dear Folks,

Last Sunday I gave a "Housekeeping Homily" updating all of you on several things happening in our parishes. I want to extend a couple of remarks in print.

St. Joseph — I inadvertently failed to mention Steve Marx and Joe Hurst for their valuable contributions to the safety and security project this summer. I apologize for that oversight.

In addition to publicly thanking the Toyota Logistics Volunteer Associates, I also want to list them here: Steve Magee, Ron Dawson, Misty Rathberger, Shawn Phillips, Ian Lynn, Jeff Valiant, Kevin Salee, Colleen Noble, Bob Berry, Dallas Toothman, Jess Anderson, John Jacquemai, Jill Rivera-Hernandez, Angel Melton and Mitch Salt. They gave weeks of work in painting the entire school and bell canopy. Again thank you!

Blessed Sacrament — Congratulations to LaRae Mason for being this year's Bruté nominee from our parish! More on this later. Also, the results on our "straw ballot" regarding the place of our parish picnic: The New Lake. Details to follow.

BLESSED SUBMISSION

"As the Church submits to Christ, so wives should submit to their husbands in everything." —

Ephesians 5:24

This Scripture passage is among the most misunderstood in the Bible. Submission is a dirty word in our contemporary culture. In the Bible, however, submission is highly valued. It is Jesus' position on the cross. Submission is the way of redemption and the power of God. It is not a position of weakness, rather it is one of supernatural strength. Submission is not passivity; it is an active, loving obedience even in disagreement.

We must submit to the Lord, His word, and His Church (Eph 5:21). We must be submissive to pastors, parents, husbands, governments, and leaders (Eph 5:21). If authorities contradict one another, we submit to the higher authority. For example, if the government contradicts the Bible, we obey the Bible and disobey the government. Most of the time, however, authorities will not contradict themselves, but will contradict us. In this case, we submit to them, deny our selves, take up the cross, and follow in Jesus' footsteps (Lk 9:23). Reflection from Presentation Ministries
